Wrecks the Town of Rich Hill, Missouri.

FIRE AT NICHOLASVILLE.

Lewis, the Notorious Murderer, Hanged Today.

OTHER HAPPENINGS OF A DAY.

Rich Hill, Mo., June 25.—A disastrous cyclone swept through this county this morning. Over one hundred houses in the path of the storm were destroyed and fifty persons were injured. All kinds of stock was killed. It is impossible to learn at this hour the full particulars of the storm. It is reported that Sedalia also felt the effect of the storm and has suffered severely.

WENT UP IN FLAMES.

The Business Portion of Nicholasville Burned.

Nicholasville, Ky., June 25.—A disastrous fire occurred in this place this morning. The fire broke out in the business part of the town and spread rapidly. Five business houses, three offices and two residences were destroyed before the flames were subdued. The loss is estimated at something like forty thousand dollars.

RIOTS IN SPAIN.

Heavy Fighting Between 8,000 Miners and the Government Troops.

Madrid, June 24.—Serious rioting has taken place, at Mieres, in the Oviedo province, which was supposed to be due to the increased taxes on food. There was heavy fighting between 8,000 miners and the Spanish troops, consisting of the civil guards and the Prince's regiment. Two rioters were killed and five severely and many slightly wounded. Two soldiers were killed and several wounded.

THE HEMP ROUTE.

Notorious Murderer Hanged at Noon Today.

St. Louis, Mo., June 25.—Charles Lewis, the recognized leader of the famous Lewis gang of murderers was hanged at noon today.

RUN OUT OF TOWN.

Mormon Elders Not Wanted at Meridian, Miss.

Meridian, Miss., June 24.—Elders Lydell, Pomeroy, Parish and Jones, four Mormon elders from Utah, were run out of Meridian this afternoon. They have been in the city several days arranging for meetings and yesterday began a house to house canvass for the purpose of securing converts. This invasion of private residences so aroused the people that a large crowd gathered at the artesian well at junction of Fourth street and Twenty-third avenue this afternoon, and when they attempted to hold services the elders were politely but firmly notified by a committee of citizens, headed by the Hon. John W. Fewell, that the people would not allow the privacy of their homes to be thus invaded, and that the elders must leave town. They left on the first train.

DESTRUCTIVE

Storm Does Serious Damage in and About St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 24.—A terrific wind and rain storm, which prevailed today, was very destructive in the southwestern section of the city, where are located several of the city institutions. The poor-house suffered most. One of the buildings, in which were sheltered seventy-five inmates, all of them cripples, was partly demolished, and glass was shattered in the others. When the roof was blown off the brick fell in among the patients, hitting a number, but one was seriously injured. The storm also struck the insane asylum. Not much damage was done there, but the patients were terror-stricken.

Forest Park, one of the largest in the country, suffered considerably, trees being leveled in every direction. The weather bureau officials report the downpour of rain the heaviest this season.

The storm was particularly severe in river towns, Keokuk, Alton and Quincy suffering. Reports from Springfield, Decatur, Edgingham and other Illinois towns say the rain was very heavy there.

MISSISSIPPI LYNCHING.

Crystal Springs, Miss., June 25.—Mr. James Moreley, a prominent citizen of this county, was brutally murdered by a negro. This morning at 9:30 the negro was taken from the jail by a mob of two hundred and was lynched.

LYNCHING THREATEND.

Indignant People May Take the Law in Their Hands.

Corbin, Ky., June 25.—The murder of John W. Corley, the Louisville shoe drummer, by Dan L. Curry, yesterday, has caused wide-spread indignation, and threats of lynching the murderer are openly made. As the circumstances become more clearly understood the more atrocious the deeds appear.

Corley was at one time engaged to Mrs. Curry, and Curry has always been jealous of him. Corley was in the city yesterday on business.

Curry, meeting Corley, said: "We will go before my wife, and if she says she is guilty of improper conduct with you, then I'll leave her; but if she says she is innocent, then one of us must die." Corley accompanied Curry to his home, and in the presence of his wife Curry made accusations of improper conduct, all of which Corley, as well as Mrs. Curry, emphatically denied. Curry then ordered Corley out of the house, and as he rose from his chair Curry fired twice in quick succession. Corley threw up his hands and cried: "Don't shoot any more, you've killed me," and fell to the floor dead.

Curry viewed his victim a moment, then fired three more shots into his prostrate form. The shooting took place in the presence of Curry's wife and little child.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict of willful murder.

Corley was a high Mason and a prominent member of the Travelers' Protective Association.

MORE COMPLICATIONS.

Arise in Lyon County Over the Penitentiary Riddle.

C. J. Caulfield Brings Suit Against Gov. Bradley and the Commissioners.

Quite a sensation has been created at Kuttawa, over the filing of a suit yesterday through his attorney, Sam C. Molloy, at Eddyville, by C. J. Caulfield against Gov. Bradley and the other members of the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners. The suit grows out of the attempt of the board to remove Caulfield as clerk of the Eddyville penitentiary.

The petition alleges that the statutes of Kentucky give the commissioners the right to remove for cause, but that no cause existed nor was he ever cited to trial. The prayer of the petitioner asks that the action of the board be declared illegal and that Tinsley, who is now attempting to act as clerk, be required to vacate the office. Caulfield, while not in possession of the office and although refused admittance, still holds the combination to the safe and keys to the desk in which the records of the penitentiary are kept.

BROKE THE BOAT.

Narrow Escape of Cooper Williams Yesterday.

Other Accident News of General Interest.

A cooper named Williams, who lives near Third and Jackson, had a narrow escape yesterday over in the lake during the storm. He was out fishing in a "john boat" when the wind blew down a tree, and it fell directly across the boat, splitting it in two. Williams narrowly escaped drowning, and borrowed a boat from Mr. George Jones, by which to return home.

Mr. R. E. Parrish, the lumber inspector, had two fingers on his left hand painfully mashed yesterday in Langstaff-Orm lumber yard.

George Anderson, colored, an employe of the I. C. C., had his left foot painfully mashed yesterday. A door blew shut on it during the wind.

"Big Sandy," a boat carrier at work on the I. C. C. shop addition, fell into a pit in the machine shops yesterday and was badly bruised up.

John Adams, a stove hand, who had a leg crushed while loading staves at Dyersburg a few days ago, was brought in last night and placed in the railroad hospital.

Master Edgar Fox, son of Prof. E. A. Fox, Principal of the Third District school, fell from a picket fence yesterday afternoon and was severely injured by having a prong stuck through his jaw.

STORM ECHOES.

Florence Station Gets a Hard Blow This Morning.

"Squire Harper, of Florence Station, was in the city this morning, and reports that a severe storm passed over that section this morning about 3 o'clock, and did considerable damage to crops. He left before the full extent of the damage was learned.

Reports from southern Illinois are that the wheat crops have been badly damaged by the recent rains and wind. The grain has been blown and beaten down until it can hardly be harvested. Similar reports come from Graves county.

PROVED FATAL.

Robt. Molett Died at 12:15 Last Night.

INQUEST HELD THIS AFTERNOON.

Robt. Smith Will Now Be Warranted for Murder.

DIED OF CONCUSSION AND LOCKJAW.

Robert Molett, colored, who had been in a critical condition at the county jail for the past few days as a result of a blow near the right eye, inflicted by a brick thrown by Robt. Smith, died at 12:15 o'clock last night in terrible agony.

Day before yesterday Molett was taken to the city hall for trial, but the case was deferred and he was remanded to jail. He was in good spirits for about fifteen minutes after being locked up, but suddenly began to complain of pains in his head.

County Physician Brothers was called and administered to his wants, and he rested well that night, but yesterday began to get worse, and blood and pus flowed from his mouth. His jaws were set, and he began to suffer great pain. Dr. Brothers at first was confident Molett was discharging in order to have the trial postponed, but yesterday afternoon he went up to the jail, made another examination and informed Deputy Jailor Grady that the prisoner could not possibly live through the night. Three prisoners were left to attend him, and at 12:15, by a watch carried by one of the nurses, he breathed his last.

William Ballentine, who slept in the hospital, was called and sent after Deputy Jailor Grady, and this morning at 9 o'clock the remains were carried to Nance's undertaking establishment, and the time for holding the inquest set for 1 o'clock.

The deceased lived at New Orleans, but had been about here for several months, doing most any kind of work. He leaves no parents, but has a cousin in Grand Rivers.

Last week Molett, Robt. Smith and several others engaged in a crap game down about the river, and Smith won from Molett $1.75. Molett asked for the loan of a quarter, and being refused, cut Smith on the throat, but the cash amounted only to a scratch. Molett claimed he was drunk and had no recollection of the cutting.

A day or two afterwards, however, Smith met him and demanded to know why he did it, and the two had an altercation. Smith hit Molett with a brick and ran. When Molett was picked up there was a pistol near him, but he swore it did not belong to him. Mr. Mack Bailey saw the difficulty, however, and testified that Molett had the pistol in his hand when Smith struck him with the brick. Smith was held over on a charge of malicious assault and Molett for perjury.

Smith, when informed of Molett's death this morning, did not evince any fear or remorse, and said he felt sure he would be acquitted, as he struck Molett to keep him from shooting him.

Coroner Nance this afternoon at 3 o'clock held an inquest, and heard the evidence of Mr. Mack Bailey and Dr. Brothers. He will swear out a warrant against Smith this afternoon, charging him with murder.

The remains of Molett will be buried tomorrow. He is the third prisoner to die in the county jail in the past several years. Dr. Brothers says he died of concussion of the brain.

"ROMEO AND JULIET."

Go on at the Casino Theatre Tonight.

Other Amusement Notes—"Ten Nights in a Bar Room" at La Belle.

The Casino Stock Company will tonight put on a new bill, but the burlesque, in which Mr. Charlemagne Koehler is to appear, is omitted on account of the failure of his costume to arrive, and will be on next week. Tonight "Romeo and Juliet," "The Rough Diamond," and specialties will be put on, and a large crowd is expected.

There was a small but appreciative audience at the Casino last night to witness the second production of "Queen Esther," under the direction of Prof. Charles Davis. The performance was very creditable, and passed off more smoothly than the one at Morton's opera house Monday night.

There was a fairly large crowd at LaBelle Park last night to witness "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," by the Phillips Stock Company. The performance was very good, and fairly appreciated by the audience.

MUCH ADD ABOUT NOTHING.

"Where Is Miss Beavers?" She is Right Here.

And She Wasn't Murdered and She Wasn't Married.

The "Register" is well maintaining its pretensions of giving the news, and of comparing its features with those of other papers. This morning, under the scare head caption, "Where is Miss Beavers?", it proceeds to create a robust and very unnecessary sensation over her mysterious disappearance, and concludes with the lugubrious observation:

"Her friends fear that she has fallen the victim of foul play in some manner or else she has secretly eloped by prearrangement and married."

The facts in the whole matter are simply that Miss Eulah Beavers, of Paris, Tenn., came to Paducah Wednesday last to have her eyes treated by Dr. A. H. Edwards. She is a guest of Miss Parry Gerald, 815 South Fifth street, and yesterday afternoon started to the doctor's office to have an operation performed on her eyes.

She forgot the number of his office, and in looking about chanced to meet Mrs. J. A. James, wife of License Inspector James, an old friend, and accompanied her to her home at Third and Madison, there spending the night. She turned up alive and well this morning, having escaped both the "foul play" and "marriage," arranged for her by an enterprising contemporary.

Citizens of Paducah.

Your attention is called to the proposition offered by the proprietors of the New Star Laundry at No. 120 North Fourth street, (Leech Block), to do any and every character of work done in their line, and upon the shortest notice possible to make the work satisfactory. As in our new place we are provided with commodious rooms, finished for our purposes, and containing a selection of such modern appliances in each department of its apparatus: electric motor power, and every equipment essential to do rapid and thorough work, and to give to patrons every assurance offered by professional laundrymen anywhere. In changing our location from our old stand, No. 104 Broadway, to our most delightful position on North Fourth street, we were impelled, not alone by the idea of physical comfort and needed space for our employes, but chiefly for the reason that our business was so increased and a constantly growing patronage that we were forced to secure other and more desirable quarters. Five years ago we began business at the old stand on Broadway in a very limited way with one or two hands who were sufficient to answer our needs of help, but the business has so increased that more space and added machinery was an absolute necessity, with all of which we are now supplied. Large, well ventilated rooms, every manner of needed machinery and appliance to furnish our fourteen employes (instead of one or two) means of constant employment in meeting the demands of our business. Large individual and family patronage throughout the city and adjacent cities, besides the work of the Palmer house and transient work from its hostelry and that of the Richmond House the greater portion of the time until its close recently, for all of which patronage we are profoundly thankful, and hope with the care and expense incurred by us in our change made, to have a continuation of the favors shown us by your patronage in the past and earnestly solicit the further test of our capacity to do satisfactory work, and to a largely increased extent, for which we are now fully prepared in every way, and respectfully ask every body to give us the opportunity. Call and see us. No. 120 North Fourth street.

Case against Ida Jones, indicted at Benton for killing her cousin, Lee Rudolph, is set for tomorrow. The general opinion is that the shooting was accidental, although there are some suspicious circumstances connected with it.

Yesterday afternoon two prominent young men engaged in an exciting fistfight over who was to pay for some damage to property done by the storm. One was knocked down twice by the other, who is a near relative by marriage. The latter then struck at him the third time and fell, skinning his nose. The latter was acquitted in Justice Winchester's court, and the other was fined $5 and costs in Judge Sanders' court.

John Ladd, the fisherman, who recently escaped from the chain gang and carried with him one of the city's shovels, was arrested this forenoon in Mechanicsburg by Lockup keeper Harry Kellar and again landed in the lockup. Eva Dora Willis and Vic House, colored, engaged in a fight last night at a house on North Ninth street below Lally's grocery, over a pair of curling irons. According to reports the Willis woman went to the other's house and knocked her down, being in turn knocked down by Wes Hawkins the House woman's son, a bad wound being inflicted over her eye. They all surrendered before Judge Sanders, and this morning in the police court the Willis woman wasn't there, and the case was continued until tomorrow.

The case against Fred Bement and George Davenport, charged with cutting Jim Page in Ballard county last week, is set for today before Squire Woodward at Lovelassville. County Attorney Houser will defend.

Justice Winchester yesterday issued a warrant against Bruce Gilliam charging him with committing a breach of the peace at Florence Station by being profane and unruly, and taking charge of the depot platform.

May Francis Caldwell and Iselore Herring, two notorious colored wenches, were charged with being common prostitutes and with visiting saloons. They pleaded guilty and were fined $5 and costs each.

The case against Robt. Smith and Robert Molett, colored, charged with malicious assault and false swearing respectively, were continued in Judge Sanders' court this morning on account of Molett's death, chronicled elsewhere.

The case against M. Ruth, for disposing of spoiled fish on the market, was continued until tomorrow.

Two telegraph reports that ex-President Harrison delivered a brief speech before the State Bar Association of Indiana. This was certainly in good taste. What other kind of speech would be appropriate at a meeting of lawyers, if not a "brief speech?"

The Spanish general Rivas in the Philippine Islands has called in his troops from some of the outlying districts and issued a proclamation that the country is pacified—nonwithstanding three provinces remain to be conquered. General Rivas is following the tactics of Weyler in Cuba. Both are bold, bad liars, and strong on proclamations.

A man in Jeffersonville, Ind., put fifty grains of strychnine in a glass of whiskey and drank it. Of course it made a corpse of him. He knew it would and had provided by writing that it should be sold to the medical students. If he had left out the strychnine and stuck to whiskey he would have lived longer, but it would have got him all the same, in the end. However, he chose the quicker route, and the medical students are possibly happy.

The Republican convention met at Toledo and completed its work. The platform is an able, clear, ringing document, which states, in concise and forceful words, the meaning of the Republicans of the state of Ohio. There was no spirit of faction or bitterness, but every act was one of a harmonious whole. A strong ticket was nominated, with Bushnell for governor at the head. Senator Hann was declared the choice of the convention for the next United States Senator. The ticket will sweep the state and be triumphantly elected.

CURRENCY reform is to follow close on the heels of tariff reform. It is now understood that President McKinley expects to send a message to Congress immediately after the enactment of the tariff law recommending the passage of a bill for the appointment of a currency commission, composed of members of all parties, which shall devise and frame a plan for the general revision of the currency system of the United States. His desire is, it is said, that such a commission shall be created at once, in order that the results of its labors may be laid before Congress for action at the regular session, which begins next December.

On the one the assertions of the silver orators of last fall are being disproved. One of the most prominent of these was the frequently reiterated statement that prices of farm products and other articles kept pace with the price of silver. No statement made during the campaign has been so thoroughly disproven by the evidence of the past six months as this one. Wheat has practically doubled in value, wool has gone up fifty per cent., sheep have nearly doubled in price, and other articles of farm production have largely increased in value, while silver has steadily gone down in price until it has reached nearly or quite the lowest point in its history.

There is a war cloud gathering over the free silver forces. Its portents are dire. The free-silver party desires the re-election of Senator Cannon, of Utah, and looks to the free silver Democracy for help, which it appears is not forthcoming, up to this date. The silver Republicans begin to suspect treachery, by an attempt to crowd out Cannon and put in a Democrat. As Cannon "has the right of way," he intends to keep it, even if it interrupts the entente cordiale between free silverites. Whenever a free silver Republican expects a free silver Democrat or a Democrat of any kind to support him, if there is any possibility of avoiding it, he will learn his error later. Free silver may save over a Democrat and a Republican vote for him, but free silver will not put a Republican in condition for a Democrat to vote for.

The Confederate Veterans who met in Nashville re-elected Gen. John G. Gordon as the commander-in-chief of the society. There was a strong desire upon the part of many of the "Vets" to elect Gen. Buckner, but this was so fiercely resented by many members, especially Kentuckians, that his name was not offered, and to keep down resentments, no contest was made by Wheeler or others, but Gen. Gordon was re-elected to close the breach. This was an unfortunate state of affairs for the society, and is, perhaps, the opening wedge to its disruption. The chief actor of Gen. Buckner is one without fear or reproach, as a soldier, statesman and gentleman, and that he should be slighted in the society for political reasons only, is a reproach to the society. A life time of honorable distinction does not avail to shield the old soldier from insult, by the cranks of the free silver rabble. Had the General been a Bryant—a free silverite, he would have been chosen without a word. But, because he held different political views concerning finance, he is made an object of attack, in a society whose politics is supposed to be over.

This is not a question which concerns Republicans, and is commenced upon from an entirely disinterested standpoint. It illustrates the intolerance of the Democratic party, however, quite faithfully—especially that faction of it known as the "silver wing." From its acts at Nashville, it may be readily conceded, that it would crush to utter nothingness, all who do not agree to the free silver hobby. This society, which was a commendable one, bringing old soldiers together in kindly fraternity, has been turned into a political slaughter house. Ideas of comradeship—altruistic affection, must give way before the storm of political differences and hatred.

The heroic deeds—the kindly remembrances of a lifetime are forgotten, while anger and resentment crowd the halls and political executions are demanded.

Gordon as the commander-in-chief of the society. There was a strong desire upon the part of many of the "Vets" to elect Gen. Buckner, but this was so fiercely resented by many members, especially Kentuckians, that his name was not offered, and to keep down resentments, no contest was made by Wheeler or others, but Gen. Gordon was re-elected to close the breach. This was an unfortunate state of affairs for the society, and is, perhaps, the opening wedge to its disruption. The chief actor of Gen. Buckner is one without fear or reproach, as a soldier, statesman and gentleman, and that he should be slighted in the society for political reasons only, is a reproach to the society. A life time of honorable distinction does not avail to shield the old soldier from insult, by the cranks of the free silver rabble. Had the General been a Bryant—a free silverite, he would have been chosen without a word. But, because he held different political views concerning finance, he is made an object of attack, in a society whose politics is supposed to be over.

This is not a question which concerns Republicans, and is commenced upon from an entirely disinterested standpoint. It illustrates the intolerance of the Democratic party, however, quite faithfully—especially that faction of it known as the "silver wing." From its acts at Nashville, it may be readily conceded, that it would crush to utter nothingness, all who do not agree to the free silver hobby. This society, which was a commendable one, bringing old soldiers together in kindly fraternity, has been turned into a political slaughter house. Ideas of comradeship—altruistic affection, must give way before the storm of political differences and hatred.

A PRINTER

Reported As Having Attempted Suicide at Hardin.

And Then Skipped From the Community at Once.

The Hardin "Star," of Hardin, Marshall county, publishes in its issue of yesterday two separate accounts of attempt made by one of its printers to commit suicide, and in another column on the same page a long letter of denial from the afore-said printer, headed "It's All a Lie." The Benton "Tribune," however, claims that the unhappy young type, whose cognomen is J. E. Greenway, has skipped, and says:

It is with deep regret that we announce to the "Tribune" readers of the sudden disappearance of Col. J. E. Greenway, of the Hardin Star. He has been a faithful old soul in that office and promised to make a shining mark at no distant day, should he so continue in the future as in the past. But the poor boy, not being acquainted with the facts and fashions of the lovely maidens of calico fame, sought refuge among them. It was only a short time until he discovered that "the loved not wisely but too well." So on this account, he hid his many friends and admirers a foul alien, saying that he took an ounce of laudanum to relieve him of all inward troubles that he may go on his way rejoicing over "the girl he left behind." It was afterwards discovered that the medicine would have no effect on him as he was an exception to the human race and he then took his departure by the "Lent's route" and thereby saved a coroner's inquest. As a brother printer we bid him a nice farewell in his new adventure and hope he will soon return to help his "Weary Willie" who now helps in thunder tones his "loss is surely my gain."

THE NEW SCHOOL

Board Met Last Night to Consider Plans.

Adjourned Until Wednesday--Charges Against Colored Teachers Were False.

The school board met last night in called session to consider plans and specifications for the new school building to be erected on the old university site, West Broadway. One plan is for a $24,000 building, one for a $26,000 building, both two story with basement, and the other is a $28,000 structure, three story and a basement. It is said that a majority of the board favors the last named, but as all the members were not present last night, the board adjourned until Wednesday.

It is understood that the grievance committee of the board has fully investigated the charges against four of the teachers, whose election was on this account deferred last Tuesday, and found that there is no foundation for them. The election will take place at the adjourned meeting Wednesday, and the old teachers will doubtless be re-elected.
